ABOUT ME

Hello, my name is Zoey and I am currently an undergraduate at NUS Faculty of Arts & Social Sciences. I major in Geography with a minors in Geographic Information Systems (GIS). As a geography major, I am very keen in the area of sustainability and sustainable development. Hence it explains my chosen area of study in geography.

In secondary school and Junior College, I was lucky enough to meet Geography teachers who inspired me and played an influential role on my current academic route. They made me realise the intricacies of geography and how much of what we learn are actually living examples but many of us fail to realise that. Geography itself is not simply about the study of rock but also the geopolitical relations, feminist geography, urban geography and so much more.
